FOREWORD

In 1991, an agreement was reached in Moscow between the publisher and the Institute of Slavic and Balkan Studies for the publication of Slavianovedenie v SSSR: Izuchenie iuzhnykh i zapadnykh slavian. Biobibliograficheskii slovar' [Slavic Studies in the USSR: Studies on the Western and Southern Slavs. Biobibliographical Dictionary], the companion to the present volume. Published in 1993, it is a work which summarizes more than 70 years in the history of Slavic studies in the former Soviet Union (mainly of Southern and Western Slavs, but also some works that concern the Baltic area, the Eastern Slavs, etc.).

While discussing the details of this work, Leonid E. Gorizontov, a researcher at the Institute, mentioned the existence of a catalog of Russian dissertations on Southern and Western Slavic Studies--which became the present volume. At the time, the catalog consisted of approximately 2,000 handwritten index cards. These cards were subsequently entered into a computerized database, from which the typeset pages were created.

Structure of the Work

The work was compiled by the staff of the Historiography Department* of the Institute, under the direction of Andrei I. Goriainov, one of the leading figures in the field of Slavic studies bibliography in Russia. Mr. Gorizontov edited the work and wrote a preface to it. Each citation includes the name of the author, the title of the work, date of its acceptance, the degree awarded and the university or other institution at which it was completed. Indexes by university and by subject lead the reader back to the main entry section. Whereas Slavianovedenie v SSSR covers the period 1917-1986, the present work is complete up to 1990, i.e., it covers virtually the entire Soviet period. That is why it includes 240 dissertations published in the period 1986-1990. Additionally, it cites 720 titles that were left out of the previous work.

Acknowledgments

The publisher wishes to thank the following individuals for their assistance in the preparation of this work: Edward Kasinec, Chief of the Slavic & Baltic Division of The New York Public Library, who provided constructive editorial advice, and Vladimir Vassilievich Rykov, who designed and created the database.
