LOVE

FOR

THE

NEIGHBOR

"to bring a love ethic to every dimension of our lives, our society would need to embrace change." (Bell Hooks)

Julianna was raised in a catholic church and was taught that love is our most powerful gift. And although many prominent political figures also grew up in the church they have stickingly different morals than her. This makes her very upset for "[they] grew up with the same bible and under the same God" so how could they hurt so many. This then feeds into her activism and push for equality.
