1. Keith Childress, 12/31/15
Metadata (Below Title) - Gallery
Caption Description
Las Vegas, NV. The U.S. Marshals were conducting surveillance on the man and requested help from Metro when he fled. When police caught up with him, they claimed he had an "unknown object" in his hand. Assuming it was a gun, they shot him dead. The object turned out to be a cellphone. No officers were charged with a crime for killing Keith.

2. Bettie Jones, 12/25/15
Metadata (Below Title) - Gallery
Caption Description
Chicago, IL. Chicago police shot Bettie Jones in the neck "accidentally" while trying to help a neighbor deal with a domestic disturbance involving his son, Quintonio Legrier. The neighbor said he called police when his son tried to break his door down early in the morning, and that Jones was shot when she opened the door to direct officers when they arrived. No officers have been charged with a crime for killing Bettie.

3. Kevin Matthews, 12/23/15
