PREFACE

My aims, in writing this book are :

- (1) To pay my homage of respect and gratitude to some of the outstanding benefactors of Africa,
- (2) To portray and preserve the best of the traditions, customs and culture of the Yoruba race,
- (3) To bring about mutual understanding and appreciation between the Yoruba people and any other tribal group of people in Nigeria.

The lessons in this book, like those in the other members of the series are specially designed for the building up of good character and for the training in the duties of true citizenship.

Further, this book excels any of the former members of the "AKQKA YORUBA" series for it contains from Lesson (V) onward useful exercises on the study of Elementary Grammar of the Yoruba language.

With due deference to all authors of the Yoruba literature past, present and future, I commend this book to the use of the public in and outside the School room.

E. A. ATILADE.
